Course Instructor -

Tammy Butler is a Master CMB and Lean Six Sigma Black Belt. With over 30 years in the industry, she has risen to the top in the areas of mortgage origination, production management, operations management, compliance, training and technology development. Tammy built one of the first underwriting and pricing engines which was licensed nationally by three government intermediaries. Optimal Blue, the nation's leading pricing engine provider, contacted her to build a fair lending monitoring framework within their pricing engine. It was during this time that Tammy discovered the disconnect between compliance and secondary marketing and began her efforts to bridge that gap by educating both sides about how interconnected they really are. As a frequent speaker on mortgage-related topics, owner of Fair Lending Diversity and Mortgage Currentcy, she spends her time breaking down complex subject matter into practical and easily implemented resources for her industry.
